

Targa 23.1, 2011

Targa 23.1 is a highly versatile and seaworthy motorboat. It is well-suited for use as a commuter boat or for short trips. Like all Targa boats, this one is solidly and high-quality built, with special attention paid to functional details. This boat, sold by its second owner, has been lovingly maintained and serviced. It has been winter-stored in a heated hall. Fuel consumption at cruising speed is a modest 1.1 liters per nautical mile. The cabin comfortably accommodates two adults, and the compact galley is well-equipped for preparing meals on board.
